Charges Due Today In Slaying of Young Mother of 3

PROBE OF FATAL SHOOTING GOES ON AT ASHLAND

Prosecutor Withholds Nature of Accusation Against 62-Year-Old Farmer.

ASHLAND—Charges were to be filed this afternoon or tonight by Ashland County Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening against Charles E. Briggs, 62, Lake township farmer, held in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Roger McKinley, 26-year-old Jeromesville mother, Wednesday night in a blackberry patch on Briggs' farm.

The prosecutor said that an investigation at the scene of the tragedy was being continued today to establish range of firing and elevation from which Briggs allegedly fired the .22-caliber bullet which killed Mrs. McKinley.

The prosecutor said he hadn't decided what the charges would be, preferring to wait until he had more details of the slaying.

Ashland County Coroner A. D. Lewis, to whom the victim's husband took his wife for treatment after the shooting said today that the bullet, lodged in the brain tissue, was removed yesterday afternoon. The young mother of three, died on Dr. Lewis' examination table at 8 p. m. Wednesday, one hour after the shooting occurred.

Prosecutor Chorpening said that Briggs was accompanied by his step son-in-law, AJ Timmer, 38, of Muth road, Mansfield, when the shooting occurred.

Gives Details.

McKinley, who related the details of the shooting to Ashland deputy sheriffs yesterday, said that he and his wife had picked blackberries in Briggs' patch last Thursday and had not been disturbed. He said that there were no "No Trespassing" signs on the premises.

The prosecutor said that the berry patch runs east and west along a road, adjoining the farm and that Briggs and Timmer had driven to the top of the hill overlooking the patch.

"The hill on which Briggs probably stood to fire the rifle slopes down 300 or 400 feet to the bottom and slopes back up to the west," Chorpening said.

He added that the couple was picking in the patch about 60 feet from where they left their small farm truck and three small sons on the road.

Deputy Sheriff William Schindler, said that Briggs admitted firing his rifle in the direction of Mrs. McKinley and her husband, but that Briggs said he "didn't intend to kill" when he was apprehended a short time after the tragedy at his farm home.

Briggs came quietly when arrested, Schindler said, and gave up the rifle which is being held as exhibit A in connection with the shooting. Schindler said that the Tennessee Voters Vote Sen. McKellar Back in Office.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, the 77-year-old dean of the upper house, won Democratic renomination and a sixth term in Washington yesterday in a statewide primary election marked by bloodshed and violence.

Backed by the powerful Democratic organization of Edward H. Crump in Shelby county (Memphis), the veteran McKellar rolled up a margin of nearly two to one against his chief opponent, CIO-backed Edward Ward Carmack.

Warm Weekend In Prospect for City

There's a warm weekend in prospect for the Mansfield area and little likelihood of showers to revive drooping gardens and lawns.

The weatherman predicted generally fair and warm tonight and Saturday with a possibility of scattered thundershowers Sunday. It will be cooler Monday, the forecaster said, but temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal over the weekend.

Almost Overlooks Top Scorer

COLUMBUS—(INS)—"To err is human"—even for supreme court justices. Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of Ohio's highest court was winding up the induction of successful applicants to the bar yesterday. Someone reminded him:

"Your Honor, you missed one man."

The forgotten man was only the aspiring barrister who had scored highest among 135 taking the bar examination— Erle H. Bridgewater, jr., of Chauncey.

The chief justice rectified his omission and remarked: "That's the first mistake in 142 years of supreme court history."

79TH CONGRESS READY TO WIND UP WORK TODAY

Bickering Over World Court Stands as Only Threat to Final Adjournment.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The 79th congress, which teamed with Presidents Roosevelt and Truman in carrying the burdens of war but balked on many home-front matters, sped toward final adjournment today.

With an eleventh-hour compromise worked out to freeze the social security tax, a last-minute flurry over a world court proposal was the only threat to plans for sine die adjournment at the end of today's sessions.

The house already has voted for final adjournment today but the senate has held up on the suggestion.

Barring an emergency that would cause the president to recall it for a special session, the 79th congress will not meet again once it closes the books, for the congress that convenes in January will be a new one, the 80th.

The fact that a new congress will be elected in November was one of the compelling reasons that prompted the body to take its longest vacation in eight years. All 435 house seats and 32 of the 96 in the senate will be filled, and members seeking re-election want ample time to campaign.

Chance For Recall.

Even as they began leaving for their homes, many members felt

700 Honor AAF At Celebration At Air Depot

Approximately 700 visitors to the 831st AAF Specialized depot in Shelby yesterday heard Brig. Gen. Frank P. Lahm and Lt. Col. S. H. Raymond, depot commander, speak at "open house" ceremonies commemorating the 39th anniversary of the U. S. Army Air Forces.

Gen. Lahm, a pioneer in building the air forces, and a former Mansfielder, reviewed the history of the Army Air Forces from the days when he was its first pilot down to the present.

Lt. Col. Raymond briefly reviewed the role of the U. S. Army Air forces in the past war, taking "Air Power Is Peace Power" as his theme.

Following the speeches, awards for one year's service with the War department were presented to 20 depot employes, and two awards went to employes for suggestions. Two safety awards to the depot were given to Lt. Col. Raymond by Howard Spettel, chief of its safety branch.

Plan Additions to 4 State Forests

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Funds to purchase 11,126 acres of forest land for additions to four state forests in five southern Ohio counties have been released by the state board of control.

Shawnee State park in Scioto and Adams counties will get 9,053 acres at a cost of $112,412; the Hocking state forest in Hocking county, $29,226 for purchase of 1,605 acres, Zaleski state forest in Vinton county $3,956 for 358 acres and Pike state forest in Pike county $1,000 for 100 acres.

FINDS BODY OF MOTHER IN CISTERN

Ashlander Calls Authorities to Probe Mystery Death of Mrs. Kate Semler.

ASHLAND — Officers today were investigating the death of Mrs. Kate Semler, 48, of 129 Maple street, who was found dead in a cistern at the rear of her home by her son, Robert, early today.

Her body, half-submerged in four feet of water, was slashed about the neck and wrists when she was found this morning shortly after 4 a. m., police said.

Patrolmen George Riggle and Ted Willis said they were called to the Semler home at 4:19 a. m. this morning by Robert who told them he had discovered blood on the bathroom floor when he entered the room at about 4 o'clock.

He immediately began a search and had found his mother in a cistern at the rear of the house before they arrived, police said. A wooden cover had been removed.

Coroner Lewis, who investigated the death with Ashland Chief of Police Harry Smith, said that a verdict would be reached as soon as full attention could be given to the case.

Despite reports of friends that Mrs. Semler had been despondent, police said they would not be satisfied with a verdict of suicide un-

BUS HURTLES FROM BRIDGE

60 Passengers Injured When Vehicle Drops 25 Feet, Landing Upside Down.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A Washington-bound interurban bus jammed with 60 passengers, most of them government workers, hurtled through a guard rail on Memorial bridge today and plunged to a road 25 feet below.

The huge vehicle hung precariously on the edge of the bridge for a few seconds and police said the plunge might not have occurred had not a panic swept the bus with passengers fighting to reach emergency exits.

The desperate movement toppled the bus from the bridge and the vehicle struck the pavement below with an awesome crash, landing on its top.

All of the passengers were injured, many seriously, but police said preliminary reports indicated that all had miraculously escaped death in the spectacular plunge from the bridge spanning the Potomac river.

The bus was en route from suburban Arlington and Fairfax, Va., to Washington, carrying workers to their jobs in the capital.

Police quoted the bus driver, Paul O. Peters of Arlington, as saying that 49 persons were seated in the huge vehicle and that there were 11 standees.

Peters, who was rushed to a hospital, told investigators that the spectacular accident occurred when the bus was struck by an automobile.

LONG MEMORIES

Vets Aid in Tracing Source of Defective Shells.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Battlefront veterans—with long memories of buddies killed by faulty mortar shells—helped the senate war investigating committee today in its determined hunt for munitions makers who produced the defective ammunition.

With more than a half hundred letters on hand—committee members declared that they would press the chemical warfare service for quick delivery of the lot numbers of all 4.2 shells purchased, and the manufacturers to whom these lot numbers were assigned.

Disclosure of the faulty mortar shells first came in the course of the committee's inquiry into the wartime operations of a munitions combine and the part Rep. May (D. Ky.) played in helping to obtain contracts worth more than $78,000,000.

War's Aftermath

Stork Sets Record at Hospital During July

150 Births In Month Reported as All-Time High In City; Previous Mark Was 114.

A crop of 150 babies broke all monthly birth records at General hospital in July and kept harassed obstetricians busy delivering at the average rate of five per day.

Hospital attendants said today that the previous record for any one month was 114 births which occurred last September.

The July birth figures were the highest in the 30 years records have been kept at the hospital, attaches said. They indicated that the return from service of some 6,800 war veterans to Richland county helped increase the birth rate.

Another record was established last month when 11 babies were born at the hospital over the weekend of July 28. Previously eight or nine births had been the top for one day.

Crowded for space, hospital authorities said they hardly know where to care for the large number of maternity cases but plans are under way for a separate maternity wing to be added to the hospital.

CONFESSES

Butler Breaks Down, Admits Murder, Say Police.

MINEOLA, N. Y.—(AP)— Capt. Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau county detectives, said today Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old butler and chauffeur, had confessed to the slaying of socially prominent Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 52, and raping and shooting her daughter, Marjory, 26, last July 24.

Pinnell said the confession came this morning after a night of questioning during which he steadfastly maintained he knew nothing of the crime.

Caraway, arrested last night in the Southold summer home of his employer, Joseph M. Rose, neighbor of the Logans in Flower Hill, was formally booked on a charge of murder. He will be arraigned later in the day.

RANSACK POSTOFFICE

ELYRIA—(INS)—Postal authorities investigated today the robbery of the nearby North Ridgeville post office from which was stolen $200 in cash, $100 in war savings stamps and $3,750 worth of unissued government bonds.

Paralysis Victims Taken From Ship

TOKYO —(INS)— Three U. S. Army officers homeward bound from Japan were stricken with infantile paralysis today and one of the victims was placed in an iron lung.

The outbreak of the dread disease delayed the sailing of the transport Marine Panther to the United States. Most of the passengers aboard the transport are the 2,250 Philippine troops enroute to their homes. The Marine Panther resumed its voyage to the United States following removal of the three officers.

WRANGLE OVER PARLEY CHIEF

Committee Fails to Settle Fuss About Chairmanship of Conference.

PARIS—(AP)—The rules committee of the European peace conference spent most of its fifth session today wrangling over who should be permanent chairman of the full conference and recessed without deciding the question.

Many of the smaller nations, led by New Zealand, lined up against a decision of the foreign ministers of the four principal powers—Britain, the United States, France and Soviet Russia—to rotate the chairmanship among themselves, but the issue did not reach a vote.

When Hector MacNeil, speaking for the British, called on the proponents of a single chairman to offer a proposal which would specifically call for the election by acclamation of President George Bidault of France as permanent chairman, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov pointedly remarked, "In this very room the foreign ministers made the decision to have a rotating chairmanship."

The Brazilians, Australians, Dutch and Canadians were among those supporting the New Zealand move in the debate amid indications that Bidault himself did not want the post, inasmuch as he has a difficult domestic task as well as France's foreign affairs to handle.

Earlier, a Polish demand to sit on the peace conference commission which will deal with the treaty for Hungary, although Poland was not formally at war with Hungary, set off a dispute between Molotov and Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia.

The Polish delegation withdrew its motion after a sharp debate, declaring that it "had proved its point that it was at war with Hungary and was satisfied with that."

CAA Opens Bids On Airport Lighting Job

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today was notified by the Civil Aeronautics Authority that it has opened four bids on the installation of a lighting system at the city's new airport.

A letter to Vaughn from the CAA's airport branch did not indicate when a contract would be let or when installation would begin.

An earlier memorandum to the mayor from the CAA, however, indicated that work would start about Aug. 1 and that the job was to be completed by Oct. 1.

The four bidders, including the Gustav Hirsch organization, of Columbus, submitted two cost estimates based on two plans. Bids ranged from about $18,300 to about $37,300, the CAA indicated.

The Gustav Hirsch bid was low while the bid of the Wood Electrical Construction company, Chicago, was high. Other bidders were the Harrison-McBurney company, of Jackson, Mich., and the Wickes Engineering and Construction company, of Des Moines, Ia.

Included in the job will be installation of 105 flush-type runway lights a 51-foot beacon tower and the seeding of some 75 acres of the port.

U. S. Army to Buy 250,000 Caskets

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The army today awarded contracts for 250,000 caskets to return the remains of armed forces personnel who died overseas during the war. Value of the contracts was estimated at $35,000,000.

Contracts, each for 50,000, went to Cincinnati Coffin Co., Cincinnati, O.; Goodyear Aircraft Corp. Akron, O., and Galinot Products, Alliance, Ohio.

Sees Start Of Ballot Box Battle

Editor, 4 Staff Members, Are Eyewitnesses as Riot Flares.

By JAMES E. JARVIS
Managing Editor,
The Chattanooga Times

ATHENS, Tenn. — (AP) — Four members of my staff and I yesterday witnessed the first suggestion of election violence here which later flamed into a full-fledged gun battle between opposing political factions.

We experienced a taste of the trouble ourselves when a big deputy sheriff demanded the films our photographer had shot of a blocked polling place in Athens. The photographer handed him a blank plate and we were able to get away with the picture.

As we stood on a crowded sidewalk across the street from a polling place which had been closed to start the ballot counting, we saw the plate glass door of the polling place shattered by the impact of the bodies of two election officials stationed there by the GI-ticket.

"HERE IT COMES" WHISPERS WOMAN

The two youths, James Ed Vestall and Charles Scott, were still on their knees in the street when Deputy Sheriff Windy Wise strode out of the broken door, a shiny pistol in his hand.

"My God, here it comes," breathed a woman near me.

The veterans rose to their feet, raised their arms above their heads and walked slowly away toward the crowd across the street, their backs to the deputy who had been joined by another armed officer. It looked for a moment that shots might sound at any time but still a third deputy grabbed the second man's arm.

The veterans and their sympathizers then started toward their headquarters down the street, followed by at least seven deputies. When the crowd was in front of a garage, the GI's suddenly turned and engulfed the armed deputies.

The seven were disarmed, taken into the garage, beaten and then tossed into cars and hurried off.

About an hour and a half later, a group of armed officers went to the rear entrance of a building housing the second of the town's three polling places. They lifted bodily an automobile which had been driven up close to block the entrance and went in. In a moment they returned with the ballot box and, guns in hand, carried it to the jail.

HOLD KIDNAPER AFTER MANHUNT

Capture Ends New Jersey's Biggest Search Since Lindbergh Case.

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)— The one-day honeymoon of an escaped convict and his 16-year old bride ended abruptly last night when they were captured several hours after kidnaping State Trooper Charles R. Kell at gunpoint and holding him captive until his escape under a hail of bullets.

Their capture—near Hopewell—ended what police said was the most intensive Jersey manhunt since the same patch of wooded area was combed in a search for the Lindbergh baby.

Kell had stopped the pair near Raritan in Somerset county for speeding.

The first to be captured was the girl, identified by State Police Superintendent Charles H. Schoeffel as Constance Ethel Blondell Doak who was taken when her husband fled on foot from their car as police closed in on them.

But a mile and a half away, the man, identified by Schoeffel as August Bernard Doak, was caught by a lone trooper as he tried to cross the Hopewell railroad bridge several hours later.

Schoeffel said Doak fled from a southern Michigan prison Sept. 28, 1945.

CYCLE CRASH FATAL

DAYTON —(INS)— Sgt. Gordon Anderson, 28, of Columbus, was decapitated when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a truck near the main entrance of Wright Field, army officials reported today.

EX-GI'S WIN BITTER FIGHT IN TENNESSEE

Athens Quiet After Bloody Six-Hour Gun Battle Rocks Community.

ATHENS, Tenn. — (AP) — A bi-partisan group of GI's, their election to McMinn county offices conceded by a leader of the opposition, brought quiet to bullet ridden Athens today after a bloody six-hour gun battle around a now battered jail.

At least 18 persons were injured, six seriously, in the election day strife which began yesterday afternoon and continued until 3 a. m. when a score or more deputized officers surrendered their hold on the two-story brick prison building.

Before complete order could be restored, several automobiles were overturned or stripped, and near riots swept over this town of 7,000, suddenly bereft of formal law enforcement from county agencies.

GI's Maintain Order.

A mobilization of state guardsmen was cancelled and a spokesman for the GI forces said they would maintain order until a mass meeting Monday when it was hoped some provision for filling county offices would be made.

In Washington, Attorney General Tom Clark ordered an investigation today of the gun battle. The civil rights section of the justice department was directed to determine whether federal laws were violated.

The battle of the jail, pocked and battered from bullets and home made bombs tossed by GI sympathizers, was a direct outgrowth of the bitter political campaign waged by the veterans to overturn the Democratic organization of State Senator Paul Cantrell, in power for a decade.

Move Ballot Boxes.

Armed sheriff's deputies moved two ballot boxes to the jail Thursday afternoon, shortly after the polls closed at 4 p. m. and trouble, long brewing, burst into the open.

A group of the GI's disarmed seven of the deputized officers, beat them and shoved them into automobiles for a swift ride out of town.

At 9 p. m. a crowd, estimated at 500 and now armed with pistols and light rifles, moved on the jail, occupied by the force of deputies.

Ralph Duggan, a former navy lieutenant commander and a leader of the GI forces, said the crowd was "met by gunfire" and because they had "promised that the ballots would be counted as cast," they had "no choice but to meet fire with fire."

The exchange of fire, sporadic

FIGHT RULING

OPA Ready to Take Eviction Case to Supreme Court.

CLEVELAND—(AP)— OPA officials said today they would go to the supreme court if necessary in an effort to overrule a federal court decision validating eviction orders issued during OPA's brief demise.

Ronald M. Benjamin, chief rent attorney for the Cleveland OPA office, said he already had contacted the Cincinnati OPA district office in an endeavor to obtain an injunction in the Sixth circuit court of appeals that would halt the eviction of Charles Jepson and his wife and daughter in nearby Willoughby.

The court ruling came yesterday when Federal Judge Paul Jones in a test case refused to grant an injunction preventing Louis E. Merhar, a married veteran, from moving the Jepson family and two boarders from a home Merhar had purchased last March in Willoughby. Jepson, an employe of the Ohio Rubber company, had occupied the house for 15 years.

PROBE AIR CRASH

DAYTON —(INS)— An investigation was under way today in the mid-air crash of two single-engined army training planes from Wright Field. The planes crashed 8,000 feet and plummeted to the ground about 20 miles southeast of Xenia. The pilots parachuted to safety.

JACK LAIT . . .

WE HAVE BEEN looking into army and navy "E" awards. . . . Even if all the thousands of them were meritorious—which is an absurd hypothesis—this system adds up to a $100,000,000 scandal. Based on a theory that such hooey boosted the workers' morale, it cost probably 50,000,000 man hours in war-plants, 25,000 lost days for officers, diversion of transportation facilities and waste of gas, plus some of the highest-powered hangovers ever experienced by men in uniform.

Army-Navy urged these plants to throw celebrations. Some turned into week-long drunks, with whisky and champagne suppers, imported entertainers and party girls, arriving in private cars and chartered planes. All this was legally deductible for income tax purposes, chargeable against production costs and valid accounting in contract renegotiation.

Officers were assigned, often traveling hundreds and thousands of miles, taking several weeks on a job, all on government pay and travel and subsistence expenses. One Public Relations Officer was always sent on ahead, to whip up the show. Higher ones came on later, to make stuffy speeches, ride in parades and souse up with the happy executives and their ladies.

There was usually a shutdown. All hands were guests at shows and blowouts, in hotels, country clubs, local theaters taken over. Besides, there were more exclusive to-dos for officers and corporation officials, "guardian angels" and other politicians, with costly souvenirs handed out—everything charged as legitimate expense.

PROs were briefed by higher officers to encourage as much hoopla as the plants could swing. Some of them did practically no other work. The Signal Corps, with only about a half-dozen HQ posts in the country, traveled its advance agents countless miles. Often the plants paid these men's expenses and those of higher officers, though the army did, too, doubling the cost to the tax-payer.

It was one of the sweetest rackets of the conflict to exterminate the enemy by good old Yankee horse-sense and can-do. A triumph of E-bombs!

Some lucky lads got a break when the Constellations were grounded. They had picked up 44-seat DC4s for tramp and charter service. They paid from $50,000 to $90,000 per. . . . The day the big Connies were anchored, airlines frantically wired offers. Latest sale brought $175,000!

Mid-Manhattan plagued with a rash of hotel and apartment building sneak-thieves. Several gangs are operating brazenly. Their principal loot is not jewelry or money—though they'll take anything—but clothes.

WESTBROOK PEGLER . . .

NEW YORK—A point that seldom is mentioned, much less considered seriously, in discussions of American hospitality to refugees is the fact that they have no right to come here.

The American people reserve the right to admit or exclude and to deny asylum to anyone for any reason by adopting laws to such effect. While it is true that our laws do lay down conditions which the supreme court has construed as American rights of aliens in foreign lands, the fact remains that congress may revoke these conditions and even forbid all immigration.

Thus, it is a privilege to come to the United States. I point out that our generosity was the greater in admitting 580,000 refugees from Hitler up to Nov. 26, 1943, when the fact is remembered that during most of these years, the national government had been rationing employment among our own people by means of overtime pay schedules.

It is true, as Breckenridge Long, our assistant secretary of state, told the house committee on foreign affairs in November, 1943, that the president's committee on refugees was very partial to authors, painters, orators, statesmen, political leaders and publishers, who were unlikely to engage in common toil in competition with our natives.

But we were very well fixed for these categories at that time and, considering that these preferred types naturally would try to impose their European ideas on their hosts, the favoritism hardly vindicates itself. An oppressed carpenter or machinist or a good, thrifty farmer, coming along at that time when Paul McNutt told us we were short of good workmen, might have been more desirable and helpful to the United States.

Anyway, a soap-box exhorter would suffer no more from Hitler's persecution than a plowman so, if the motives here were purely and solely humane, the priority remains to be justified. To be practical, of course, it must be recognized that here as we had selection by pull and influence with prominent, conspicuous or notorious individuals escaping while the obscure were left behind.

The power of money exerted in the United States by wealthy relatives or in an American consulate aboard, where the clerks were human and not overpaid, deserves to be considered and may be explored some day.

At any rate, Mr. Long not merely admitted but declared that "the committee was trying to save particular persons who were worthy to be saved in the cause of humanity," but mentioned these classes of worthies. And the committee was strangely silent and slow-witted in the absence of any challenge to this brutal distinction.

He left an impression that the humble were less "worthy to be saved in the cause of humanity" and a suspicion that some were rescued out of turn merely because friends here thought they were more precious than others when they may have been only obstreperous and important contributors to the distress of all.

At a time when the American government and the very state deparment for which Mr. Long spoke, professed to be diligent in exporting American principles and political ideals to other lands, they were running an important trade in European thought and political methods which have made an impression here as effective as our impression on the minds of the Germans and Italians.

There occurs in the text of Mr. Long's statement, so long suppressed and for no evident reason except to conceal facts from the American people, information regarding Spain's hospitality to refugees which would have been helpful in opposing the communist agitation in favor of another Spanish civil war.

Spain did not join the committee of rescuing nations but neither did Russia and, though Russia did accommodate many, she was no more merciful in proportion to her means, than Spain.

Busy as he doubtless is with his duties at the state department and busy as the members of the foreign affairs committee are with theirs, all of them, being responsible for the maintenance of good relations with friendly countries, should have recalled these facts about Spain when the communists here, including some refugees and many American relatives of refugees, were carrying on an angry clamor against Franco and demanding action by our government which would have scourged the Spanish people again with civil war.

HAL BOYLE . . .

NUERNBERG, Germany—(AP)—The 21 members of the vanished Nazi hierarchy being tried here for war crimes have become the biggest tourist attraction in Germany.

They don't like it.

At each recess spectators crowd to the railing to get as close a look as possible at the men whose empire has come down to a prison cell and a seat in a courtroom box.

"Look at Hess!" someone exclaims audibly. "Look at Julius Streicher, he's eating a piece of bread!"

Particularly maddening to the defendants are spectators who stare at them through binoculars. This so enrages Alfred Jodl, the lean red-nosed former chief of staff of the German general staff, that on occasion he screws his hands together around his eyes as if he held a pair of field glasses himself and glares back at the offending onlooker, jabbering angrily in German the while.

This performance always brings an audience laugh, and angers Jodl even more.

It is strange to see these men standing trial for a world's misery. They look so harmless surrounded by wooden barriers and armed guards. And to read their defense briefs—if he hadn't read the evidence massed against them—a newcomer from another planet might think them a most virtuous, imposed upon and betrayed group of men.

Their long confinement has broken the cockiness of most defendants. They all have had a chance to tell their stories, and now as the purple of black-robed German defense attorneys present their final summaries, the defendants sit dully or stare moodily around the room.

The eight-month tide of words has wearied the entire court, and the proceedings drone to the climax in a gathering inertia. Everybody seems word-bombed. Only during recess periods do the defendants snap out of their half-coma and exchange notes and brief jests.

Hermann Goering remains the most virile, commanding presence, and the one who has won most courtroom respect because of his lack of hypocrisy and his continued allegiance to his dead fuehrer. Americans like loyalty in a man—even if he is serving the devil.

Goering has an almost benevolent profile, but when he turns his head you get a sudden shock as if you had dived into a woodland pool and came up to find yourself staring into the leering face of a satyr. The eyes have a thyroid intensity, the mouth holds a voluptuous cruelty, and the skin of his cheeks hangs loosely over the lost fat.

Physicians have weaned him from the narcotics habit. He sits hunched forward with an American army blanket wrapped around his body. Sciatica troubles him.

"He has lost interest," one courtroom attendant told me, "since his attempt failed to create a legend around Hitler. He feels the other defendants let him down."

Now when a German attorney speaks disparagingly of Hitler as a man who befuddled his followers and led his nation to ruin, Goering cups his face in his hands and slowly shakes his head.

The shadow of Adolf Hitler hangs heavily over the entire trial.

You can't escape feeling that if the chief architect of World War II were in the defense box, the world would more surely learn from his vainglorious life the lesson it must learn to keep the pattern of peace.

TRIES AGAIN TO GET BROTHER FREED AT OSR

Sister of War Vet Inmate to Appeal Court Decision in Habeas Corpus Case.

Mrs. Ida Irwin of Canton is going to the Fifth district appeals court in a second attempt to free her war veteran brother, Donald William Burson, 22, from the Mansfield reformatory, her attorneys in Canton said today.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch several weeks ago refused to grant a writ of habeas corpus to free Burson.

Frank T. Bow, of the law firm of Bow, Ake, and Thomas of Canton, counsel for Mrs. Irwin, has asked for a transcript of proceedings in the court here, adding that the common pleas court decision would be appealed.

Meanwhile, Judge Kalbfleisch revealed he has received a number of complaints since the writ was denied, calling his decision unfair in the light of Burson's record in World War II.

The judge pointed out that he did not sentence Burson and that in hearing the case he was asked to decide only whether the Stark county court at Canton had jurisdiction to sentence Burson who had violated his probation despite his service in the armed forces.

"My decision was restricted to a consideration of the question of whether Judge A. C. L. Barthelmeh of Stark county had jurisdiction to sentence," Judge Kalbfleisch said.

"In other words I had to decide not what the Stark county judge did, but rather whether he had the right to do it," Judge Kalbfleisch explained.

Burson had originally been placed on two years probition in January, 1942, for operating a motor vehicle without the owners' consent.

Testimony at the hearing earlier this month revealed that he had left Stark county in January, 1943, without the consent of the probation department. He had returned in April of that same year but had not reported to the probation officer.

On May 10 he was inducted into the army.

It was following his discharge that the Stark county judge extended his probation period and later revoked it and sentenced him to one-to-20 years in the OSR where he was admitted last June 1.

Judge Kalbfleisch recently received a letter from the Stark county judge in which he explained that he had given Burson a half dozen chances, but without success.

INTERVIEWS 106 IN CITY AREA

Congressman McGregor Kept Busy During His Stay in Mansfield.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor held 106 conferences in two days of interviewing Richland countians before he left Mansfield last night for Mt. Vernon for another two-day stop in his tour of the 17th district.

During his stop here the congressman promised to help speed approval of applications from airlines seeking to furnish scheduled plane service through Mansfield.

McGregor also heard a request for rural electrification line extensions in the area near the Pleasant Hill dam.

Protests and opinions heard by the congressman on his trip through the district will be taken back to Washington and compiled in a report. They will guide his voting on bills before congress, he said.

Tax Revenue Goes Higher

Continuing to show sharp gains over last year, Richland county sales tax revenue for the week ended July 20 totaled $17,297 as compared with $13,116 in that week last year.

Retail sales in the county have produced $539,060 so far in 1946, an increase of $154,765 over the corresponding period last year, the state treasurer reported.

Revenue collected in nearby counties during the first seven months of the year included:

Ashland, $168,785, up $58,836; Crawford, $191,922, up $62,804; Holmes, $37,559, up $12,166; Huron, $194,323, up $60,509; Knox, $155,116, up $47,783; Morrow, $30,661, up $12,089.

Vandals Damage 8 Houses In City

Vandals today had slowed Mansfield's home-building program by destroying portions of the interiors of eight houses under construction on Maumee avenue.

Police said that Mrs. Jack Cogen, 808 Maple street, reported that someone tore out wiring, insulation and furnace pipes and damaged lathe and plaster in the homes which are being built by her husband, a contractor.

She said damage occurred during the past few weeks and asked police to make special inspection tours of the property at night.

REUNION—

Show business is like that! Mrs. Rosella "Babe" Mason walked into a Mansfield night club the other night and blinked in amazement when she saw in the floor show a trouper with whom she had trod the boards some 25 years ago and hadn't seen since. He is Herb Camp, comic. He spotted Mrs. Mason from the floor, and as soon as his turn was done he joined her party and the two troupers reminisced over where they had last played together, deciding that it was with the Mary and Doc Paul players in Muskegon, Mich.

HAPPY—

Emma Whitney, of Columbus, is a happy woman today—thanks to the honesty of a Loudonville resident. Lois Haudenschild, of Loudonville, told police that she found a wallet containing $131 in a Mansfield department store yesterday. She turned the purse over to police. A check with Columbus told officers that the woman who owned the purse was attending the Free Methodist church conference near the city. The money-filled wallet was returned to the Columbus woman who plans to see the Loudonville resident to offer her thanks.

STILL 10 POUNDS—

Telephone calls and sugar stamps are becoming troublesome for C. C. Beelman, price control board head. Callers complain when they get in touch with him and complain when they don't. The complaint calls are over Stamp 10, good for five pounds of canning sugar and the calls which don't reach Beelman are because one of the phones, number 3231-6 has been taken out, leaving the board phone number as 2758-6.

"Everyone seems to think that Stamp 10 should net them 10 pounds of sugar," Beelman said. "Housewives and grocers alike have been calling to try to clear up the misunderstanding. Please tell them that they get only five pounds for Stamp 10, the same as Stamp 9."

Both sugar stamps total the 10-pound allotment of canning sugar per person, so it's no use to try to convince your grocer that he should give you 10 pounds for it.

DECLINES OPTION ON GARSSON'S METAL PLANTS

'Too Many Complications,' Ray Rausch, Head of Ashland Firm, Says.

ASHLAND—Rausch Industries, the former Simmons Manufacturing company, has turned down an opportunity to purchase the Garsson munitions plants now being investigated for alleged war profiteering, according to Ray R. Rausch, president.

Upon his return from Chicago where he talked with Garsson representatives, Rausch said that the purchase involved "too many complications." The purchase would have involved plants at Batavia, Ill., and a foundry at Centerville, Ia.

While not expecting to purchase the Garsson plants, Rausch and co-owners of the Ashland plant have expressed interest in adding other plants to their local industry. Rausch was reported leaving for New York to investigate another expansion possibility.

SUSPENDS JAIL SENTENCES OF 4

Judge Delays Execution of Penalties in Cases Involving Neglect.

Suspended sentences of 60 days in the county jail were imposed on three men and one woman on non-support charges in county probate court yesterday.

The sentence of Edna B. Taylor, 36, of Mansfield R. D. 1, was suspended on the condition that she pays the first week's support costs of $10.50 for three minors plus the court costs of $6.15. Judge Stuart H. Cramer ruled that she must pay $3.50 per week for each child, beginning today.

The court suspended the sentence against Larue Jones, 37, of Mansfield R. D. 4, after he signed a court order for deduction of $70 per month from his pay for support of five minors and agreed to pay the court costs.

Fred DeWeese, 202 North Mulberry street, charged with non-support of seven children, was freed on the condition that he raises $15 plus the court costs by Monday, and thereafter meets his monthly payments.

Elmus Taylor, 43, Mt. Vernon R. D. 2, charged with non-support of four minors, had his sentence suspended on the condition that he pay $50 for support, plus court costs and meets his weekly payments thereafter.

All four were warned by the judge that their sentences would be imposed if they failed to make their payments as ordered.

Hearing of a case against Clyde Mehl, 30, Mansfield R. D. 6, charged with non-support of two minors, was continued.

CASE SETTLED

Land Owner, State Agree on Price For Right-of-Way.

A settlement of $500 for 1.23 acres to be used for highway improvement purposes in Worthington township was reached yesterday between Gaylord Winters, and the state highway department.

The acreage involved is to be used to improve the Fredericktown-Butler-Perrysville road.

The state highway department had originally offered $273, but Winters objected, contending that his farm would be damaged in a greater amount by the loss of the land.

Requires Food Price Reports

Restaurant owners and managers who have raised prices on meals were reminded today that they must file amended price reports by Aug. 10 with C. C. Beelman of the Richland price control board.

Beelman said that the OPA extension act includes Amendment 13 of the former price control agency allowing restaurants to increase their prices according to increases in cost. He added that such increases must be filed in duplicate by the deadline date.

The manager said that the extension act is subject to certain changes which do not at the present time, affect any of the existing regulations. Any changes made in the service regulations, Beelman said, would be specifically issued by Washington in the form of amendments or new regulations.

"All restaurant regulations and amendments, as they existed on June 30, are automatically renewed under the price control extension act and are not expected to be changed by the provisions of the extension bill," he said.

Seven Local Softball Clubs Entered In District Play

Conway Helps Harder to 215th Victory

CLEVELAND —(AP)— At the Cleveland Indians' training camp this spring, Mel Harder declined to accept the suggestion that he retire to the coaching lines.

The 36-year-old dean of the Tribe's mound corps believed he had a few more well-pitched games in his system.

Yesterday Mel received credit for a 2 to 1 triumph over the pennant-bound Boston Red Sox although he needed some brilliant help from Jack Conway, the hustling young second baseman.

Harder allowed the Sox eight hits and one run in the eighth and one-third innings he toiled. Jittery Joe Berry finished up after the Bosox rapped a pair of singles in the ninth.

Conway preserved the 215th victory of Harder's career in the ninth when, with the bases filled, he made a shoetop catch of Rip Russell's liner and shovel-passed the ball to First Baseman Heinz Becker to double Don Gutteridge and end the game.

The triumph—recorded before 21,371 ladies' day guests and 14,162 paying customers—gave the Indians their first series of the year over the league leaders, 2 to 1.

Joe Dobson, who gave way to Bob Klinger in the eighth, failed to last out a start for the 11th time and was tabbed with his fifth loss against 11 victories.

50 Boats May Enter Race

One or two skippers from the Mohican Sailing club may enter their boats in the national championships of the Inter-Lake Sailing class association at Sandusky this Saturday and Sunday.

About 50 boats are expected to enter the series of three six-mile races. Entries are expected from Akron, Mentor, Harbor, Mansfield, Sandusky, Toledo and Port Huron, Mich.

In addition to the ILSCA championship, the 20th annual Sandusky Bay Regatta will be held also on Saturday and Sunday. There will be power boat races, swimming and diving events, a band concert, fireworks and social activities.

Saturday afternoon many army and navy planes will be overhead as Ohio's all-veteran's day is celebrated at Cedar Point. . . . .

Indians to Hold Baseball School Here

More baseball training is in store for this area's young diamond players this month.

Only last Sunday it was announced that the Chicago Cubs would conduct a tryout school here this Monday and Tuesday for high school graduates up to 23 years old.

This morning Jimmy Lymper, director of the sandlot program here, announced that the Cleveland Indians will hold a baseball school here Aug. 12 and 13.

Indian scouts Laddie Placek and "Gyp" Lewis will be in charge.

This school, unlike the tryout camp, will be for players of all ages. There will be no registration. Boys will simply report to Liberty park during these two days.

An invitation is being extended to all players from surrounding towns to attend the school.

The school will consist of lecures, instructions and then the players will be given a chance to perform. Anything the scouts see wrong will be pointed out to the boys.

Lymper stated today that the Cubs and Indians will switch next summer with Cleveland staging the tryout camp and Chicago the school.

A SELL-OUT

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(UP)—All tickets for the Michigan-Army football game to be played here Oct. 12 already have been sold out—the earliest sell-out in Wolverine gridiron history.

Mexico's Tony Rios On Local Mit Show

Mansfield's second outdoor pro fight show of the summer comes up a week from Monday night, Aug. 12, at the Armory arena.

Two of the five bouts on the card have been lined up with the other three expected to be announced by Sunday.

Tony Rios, sensational Mexican lightweight, will meet Harry Hart of Delaware in the 10-round main attraction, Promoter Rex Reese announced this morning.

For the first time since pro boxing has re-established itself here, Paul Carbetta, Mansfield's top-ranking scrapper, will not be on the card.

The small featherweight is nursing along an injured shoulder and figures a rest will be needed to get it back in shape.

One of the top flight lightweights in the country, Rios recently lost to Willie Russell of Columbus in the main bout on a Cincinnati card.

Rios had Russell beaten all the way and then got careless in the last round.

Rios holds the Texas lightweight title.

Hart has been running up a fine ring record down Columbus and Cincinnati way. While in the service, he was crowned lightweight champion of Hawaii.

Dick Alexander, who has a good start on his way up of becoming one of the best welterweights in these parts, will provide the Mansfield touch to the card, meeting Tiger Jackson, Akron, in the six-round semi-final.

Alexander made a name for himself while fighting for the navy out in California and is steadily drawing plenty of attention here.

In his two scraps here he won one by a knockout and then gained a decision on the show three weeks ago.

Cards Cut Dodgers' Lead With Second Straight Victory, 3-1

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer.

The St. Louis Cardinals' old flag system of knocking down their chief rivals—which didn't pan out so well last year when they licked the champion Chicago Cubs 16 to six and still lost the pennant—appears to be paying rich dividends as the Redbirds find themselves only a game and a half out of first place today.

In 15 engagements with the National league leading Brooklyn Dodgers, the Redbirds have captured 11, including two out of three in their most recent "crucial" series which ended yesterday with a 3-1 Cardinal triumph. The Cards also hold a 7-4 edge over the third-place Cubs in the current campaign.

As for the Dodgers, yesterday was a day they do not care to remember in any shape, form or manner. Not only did they drop the game and the series to their arch-rivals, but lost the services of Pete Reiser temporarily.

The brilliant outfielder suffered a "mild concussion" after banging his head against the left field concrete wall in a vain attempt to snare a drive off the bat of White Kurowski in the fifth inning. He was removed on a stretcher to the clubhouse, thence to the Pe. Memorial hospital where x-rays were to be taken today.

Although the injury was not believed serious, it was announced that Reiser will be sidelined for three or four days "at least." Coming on top of the injury to Second Baseman Eddie Stanky, who was restricted to pinch hitting duty yesterday following his accidental spiking Tuesday night by Enos Slaughter, things looked none too bright for Dodger Manager Leo Durocher.

The New York Yankees moved back into second place in the American league by defeating the Detroit Tigers 4-2 to forge nine percentage points ahead of the Bengals.

Cleveland made it two in a row over the front running Boston Red Sox by edging out Joe Cronin's crew 2-1.

With Jack Kramer getting Washington down with four hits in his 11th win the St. Louis Browns lashed out an 8-2 triumph to sweep the three-game series with the Senators.

Despite a grand slam homer by Philadelphia's Pete Suder the Chicago White Sox outslugged the Athletics 7-6 to capture the series, two games to one.

A scheduled twin bill between Cincinnati and Philadelphia and a single encounter between Boston and Pittsburgh in the National league were postponed because of rain. The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs were not scheduled

MRS. SWEETVOICE SITS TIGHT

Advice so easy is to say,
But seldom easy to obey.
—Old Mother Nature.

Mrs. Sweetvoice the Vesper Sparrow was worried. She had heard a rumor. Sweetvoice had picked it up. "My dear," said he, "I have heard that Sally Sly the Cowbird and her friends have been seen in the Old Pasture."

"Who saw them?" asked Mrs. Sweetvoice quickly.

"Peter Rabbit. Our cousin, Little Friend the Song Sparrow, told me that our big cousin, Chewink the Towhee, told him that Peter

"Who saw them?" asked Mrs. Sweetvoice quickly.

Rabbit told him that he saw them, and Sally Sly was on the back of one of the Cows."

"Sometimes I think Peter Rabbit's tales are as long as his ears and heels," replied Mrs. Sweetvoice drily.

Nevertheless she was worried. Yes, sir, she was worried. She wouldn't admit it, but it was so. Reddy Fox, Jimmy Skunk, Shadow the Weasel, Mr. Blacksnake had passed along the old cowpath so close to her nest without worrying her nearly as much as she was worried now.

"They say dreadful things about Sally Sly," she confided to Sweetvoice.

"I know," replied Sweetvoice. "She lays eggs but she refuses to be a mother. She leaves her children to the care of other folks with tender hearts."

Mrs. Sweetvoice nodded. "That is what they say, and I guess it is true. She lays her eggs in the nests of other birds and then goes off having a good time without a thought of her babies and what may happen to them. What a mother!" replied Mrs Sweetvoice.

"I hear she almost always chooses the nest of some one smaller than herself, knowing that because her eggs are bigger than the others they will get more of the heat from the one sitting on them and so will hatch first. Then her babies will be bigger and stronger and so get more food than the others. Perhaps she calls that being a good mother," said Sweetvoice.

"They say that last year the babies of Redeye the Vireo starved to death because Sally Sly's youngster in their nest was so much bigger that he grabbed most of the food in spite of all Mr. and Mrs. Redeye could do, and at last he threw the others out of the nest and they died. Wasn't that awful? Can you think of anything worse?" said Mrs. Sweetvoice.

"They should have thrown her eggs out in the first place," declared Sweetvoice.

"Of course they should if they could. Perhaps they couldn't. Anyway that is what happened. She is well named, that Sally Sly. She is just about the slyest person who wears feathers. She is almost never caught laying her eggs in the nests of other birds. Last year Cousin Chippy the Chipping Sparrow was on the nest while Mrs. Chippy was getting her dinner. He saw a moth fly past and left the nest only long enough to catch it.

He was back in just a few minutes, but there in the nest was one of Sally Sly's eggs. He didn't see her and she hadn't been seen in the neighborhood. That's how sly she is. She makes it her business to find all the nests in a neighborhood, then keeps watch of them, especially the smaller ones. She knows when the owners begin laying eggs and lays her eggs with them, one in a nest I am told. She does it before the owners of the nests begin sitting. She is too smart to lay her eggs with eggs about to hatch or in nests in which the eggs have already hatched. Do you know what?" said Mrs. Sweetvoice.

"What?" asked Sweetvoice.

"She won't get a chance to leave an egg in our nest. I'm going to sit tight. I won't leave it for even a minute unless you are right here to take my place. I'm going to sit tight, believe me," replied Mrs. Sweetvoice.

That is just what she did do. Sweetvoice relieved her at times, but she never was long gone, and when Sweetvoice left the nest for her to take his place she always anxiously looked the eggs over to make sure all were theirs. If Sweetvoice noticed this he said nothing.

The next story: "Feathered Gypsies."

According to Hindu legend, sugar cane was created when a Rajah who wished to experience the joys of heaven while still on earth commanded his chief magician to build an earthly paradise.

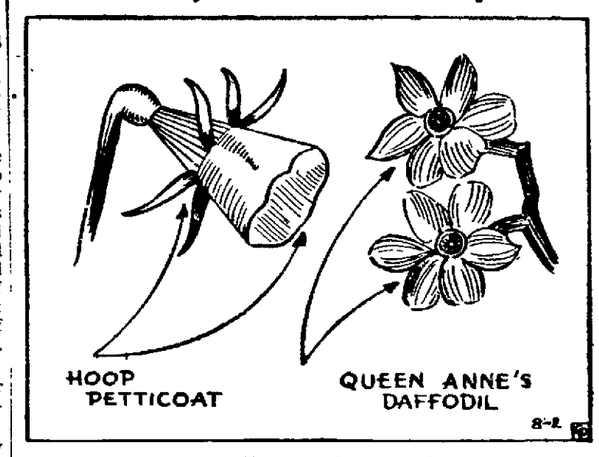
Today's Garden-Graph



Miniature Daffodils for Rock Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

MANY of the species of tiny daffodils are fascinating subjects for use in the rock garden. They present a pleasing contrast to the other spreading and trailing rock garden plants.

Two popular tiny daffodils are illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. They are especially recommended for rock garden use. One is the hoop petticoat, Narcissus bulbocodium, which only grows from 6 to 8 inches high. The flowers are exquisite in pale yellow, golden yellow or white.

Another minature daffodil appropriate for rock gardens is the Queen Anne daffodil, Jonquillo simplex. It is a single golden type which is fragrant. This daffodil is perfectly hardy and has grass-like foliage.

Capax plenus belongs to the double-flowering forms. It is often called the Queen Anne's double lemon daffodil. The flowers are lemon-colored, with six super-imposed layers of six petals, like pointed stars graduating in size. It blooms early, is seven inches high, and is at home in sandy loam.

Juncifolius is a real baby daffodil. It stands only 3 or 4 inches high. Its little buttercup-like flowers measure only three-fourths of an inch from tip to tip of the spreading petals. The flowers are a rich yellow color, and are delicately perfumed.

All these little plants should be grouped to get the best effect. They increase rapidly, need little or no cultivation, and most of them naturalize easily. They should be much more popular than they are, but many gardeners do not realize they exist.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Haas and Klopfer became interested in modern art at about the same time. Haas bought a picture by an artist whom the dealer assured him was the American El Greco, for two hundred dollars.

A couple of weeks later he sold it to Klopfer for two hundred and fifty. Then Klopfer sold it back to Haas for three hundred. Gradually the boys worked the price up to a thousand.

Then one day Klopfer reported that he had sold the picture to a rank outsider named Scherman. "You fool," chided Haas. "What did you do that for—just when both of us were making a fortune on it!"

"My most humiliatin' experience," Jimmy Durante told his radio audience, "come the day a brat at the circus starts shovin' peanuts at my schnozzola. I ups to him and says, 'Desist, you is annoying me.' The brat pokes the woman he's wid and says, 'Whaddya know! Dis elephant can talk!'"

Waxing philosophical, Jimmy pointed out that his famous oversized nose was far from a liability. "I am probably the only man in the country," he declared, "who can keep a cigar lit while he takes a shower."

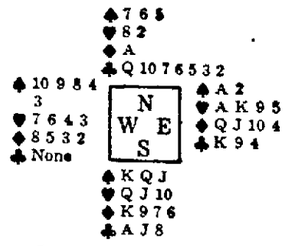
"Fast players" are usually creatures of habit. In the vast majority of situations, they play according to some kind of rule. As soon as a circumstance confronts them, they apply the first rule that seems to fit the case. Could this be because of a particular kind of inferiority complex? Would a psycho-analist or psychiatrist say they want other people to think of them as having sharp, fast-acting minds? Probably so in many cases. At any rate, their failure to curb their impatience and think a bit, instead of acting first and thinking later, hands hundreds of points to their fortunate opponents.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT

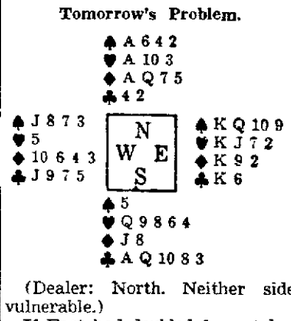
West led his fourth-best spade 4. East, seeing the menace of that long club suit, with a side entry to help bring it in, took the opening trick with the A and then switched to the diamond 4, knocking out the dangerous entry.

South saw that, if the missing three clubs were divided on a basis of two in one defender's hand and one in the other, his contract was safe and sure as could be. He also saw that he could make it against three clubs in the East if that defender would use his K on the first club lead. Likewise, he would be safe if West had all three and would be unwise enough to play the K on the first trick.

Hoping for the 2-1 division, but also providing all possible lure for play of the K on the first club, he led the Q from Dummy. East, as is his custom, promptly "covered an honor with an honor," and the A killed his K. That of course enabled South to get seven tricks in clubs plus two in diamonds and two in spades, for two extra tricks.

If East had played low on the club Q, South could have scored only three club tricks and would have been set, no matter what he did thereafter.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If East had doubled for a take-out, then both defenders bid spades, how should South play for 4-Hearts after the spade 3 lead?

Bentley Post 9 Favored Today

DELAWARE, O. —(AP)— Cincinnati's Bentley Post 50 team was favored today to recapture from Cleveland the American Legion Junior baseball state championship.

The Cincinnati post's 1944 entry went on from the state to the national championship, but a Cleveland team took the Ohio title last year.

Cincinnati was favored today on the strength of an 11-4 victory over Cleveland yesterday afternoon. If the Queen City lads win, another Cincinnati-Cleveland contest will be held in the afternoon, because two defeats are required for elimination and Cincinnati is unbeaten.

In its five victories Cincinnati has scored 58 runs—better than one an inning—to 19 for opponents. Yesterday Catcher Dick Kaufman led a 14-hit barrage against Cleveland with two doubles and a single while Pitchers Bob Andres and Don Jootsworth held the losers to six hits, including Catcher Jerry Rendlesham's homer.

After losing to Cincinnati Cleveland eliminated Akron 10-1, with Bruce Hayman yielding only one hit to Akron in six innings.

Cincinnati, in the final game of the day, smothered Columbus 13-4 in another 14-hit attack which Second Baseman Dick Ruehl led with three doubles.

Record Sale of Thoroughbreds

LEXINGTON, Ky. —(AP)— The dignified thoroughbred held his head higher than usual today. A price tag double its size of two years ago decorated the newest generation.

Four days and nights of dizzy bidding in the 1946 Keeneland summer sale of yearlings ended last night with a final tally of 415 horses sold for $4,116,900, an average of $9,920 per yearling.

Both total and average represented a new record substantially larger than last year's previous best money mark. It was almost twice the take and average at the 1944 sales, when 437 yearlings returned $2,286,000, an average of $5,231 per colt and filly.

Warned About "Bean Balls"

NEW YORK —(AP)— President Ford Frick of the National league said today he had instructed his umpires to warn both Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Eddie Dyer, boss of the St. Louis Cardinals, against the use of "bean balls" by their pitchers.

In the Dodger-Card series, that ended yesterday, three Redbirds were hit with pitched balls while on frequent occasions, players from both sides were sent sprawling to the dirt while getting out of the way of close pitches.

* * * *

Frick said he did not act as a result on any protest lodged by any player or manager, but that from his own observation, he decided to caution both pilots.

* * *

"I attended the first two games and saw that the boys were getting dropped into the dirt with undue regularity," he said. "I decided to put a stop to it. Just a precautionary measure, that's all."

TIGERS PRACTICE

Jimmy Lymper announced this morning that the Mansfield Tigers will practice at Liberty park tonight at 6 o'clock. Tomorrow afternoon they'll travel to Gambier for a game with Kenyon college and Sunday the local nine will play at Lucas.

The seven hills upon which Rome was built are the Capitoline, Palatine, Aventine, Quirinal, Viminal, Esquiline and Caelius.

LEGAL NOTICE

Mary Ellen Farver, whose last known residence and mailing address is Mary Ellen Farver, in care of C. E. Frye, Thornton Drive, Bloomington, Indiana, also Iva Lindsey mother of said Mary Ellen Farver, a minor, whose residence and mailing address is the same, will take notice that Weldon Clarence Farver has filed his petition against the said Mary Ellen Farver in the Common Pleas Court, Richland County, Ohio; that said cause is for divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, and will be for hearing before said court on or after August 31, 1946.

PROFIT CASHING TENDS TO SLOW STOCK LEADERS

Scattered Offerings Try For Higher Prices Despite Halt of Climbers.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Scattered stocks continued to reach for higher prices today although many market leaders backed into slightly losing territory.

A little profit cashing tended to stall a number of the week's best climbers. Dividends and earnings again served as buying inspiration.

Ahead factions to a point or so were Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Bethlehem, Lane Bryant (on a splitup proposal), Douglas Aircraft, Goodyear, General Motors, American Telephone, Kennecott and Great Northern Railway.

Backward were Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Public Service of N. J., General Electric, Phelps Dodge, Philip Morris, Consolidated Edison, Hiram Walker, Pennsylvania at a new 1946 low and Southern Pacific.

LACROSSE SCORER

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(AP)—High scorer of the 1946 Penn State lacrosse team was ex-GI Cliff Sulivan, of Spring Valley, N. Y. The 27-year-old winner topped the field with 18 goals.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

EX-GI'S WIN BALLOT FIGHT

Order Returns to Community After Bloody Six-Hour Gun Battle.

for six hours, ended after the jail was rocked by four blasts of explosives and one of the deputies shouted down for a halt because "we are dying in there."

One report, telephoned from within the jail during the night, said two men inside had been killed but it proved false.

The deputies, hands high in the air, marched out of the building, were searched and 21 returned to the jail under GI guards. One officer, identified by onlookers as Deputy Windy Wise, was manhandled by a group, but apparently was not harmed seriously.

Cantrell's whereabouts were not known. Sheriff Pat Mansfield, shirt sleeved and without his badge, was seen in the company of a physician after the surrender. He apparently was unharmed.

George Woods, a county election commissioner and high in the Cantrell organization, had agreed to certify the GI slate of candidates as winners of the election, Duggan said.

The ballot boxes, torn open with their contents strewn about a jail office, were recovered by the GI forces.

Duggan called the mass meeting for Monday and said it was planned to have winners formally inducted as interim officials. Their terms normally would start Sept. 1.

Red Tape Snarls Overseas Trips of Servicemen's Wives

Richland county wives of overseas servicemen aren't too anxious to wade through government "red tape" to join their husbands.

"So far we've had two inquiries in the county from wives who want to join their husbands, but as far as we know no one has left yet from this county," Miss Esther Barnett, Red Cross home service secretary, said today.

She said that one of the women feared that her husband's overseas duty would be completed before she received the necessary papers to embark.

"Most of them are afraid it will take too long to get their trips approved and their husbands would be on their way home before they could get across," Miss Barnett said.

The secretary said that husbands overseas must get the permission of their commanding officers to bring their wives overseas.

The commanding officer must then have proof that the serviceman's family will have proper housing. From there the application goes to the War department in Washington for further checking and approval.

Congressmen Ready to Quit

they might be recalled into special session after the November elections. Should the Republican party make good its boast that it will win control of the house in the new congress, they feel certain that President Truman will make one final effort to win approval of some of his domestic legislative proposals from the Democratic 79th.

Many of those proposals already have been rejected by the 79th, which often ignored the expressed wishes of the chief executive.

But on the other hand it went down the line with both Mr. Roosevelt and his successor on international issues and on matters dealing with the war, which was in progress on two fronts when the congress first convened on January 3, 1945.

The political "honeymoon" between the new president and congress ended abruptly in September, 1945, when Mr. Truman submitted a 21-point major legislative program. The rift widened as the president broadened the program with later requests.

In all, the president asked for 42 pieces of legislation. Congress approved 10 of them, rejected 15 and compromised on 7.

PLANT ENGINEER TO GO BEFORE SHELBY COUNCIL

A. N. Wittmer, Water Works Expert, to Appear at Meeting Monday.

SHELBY—Mayor Frank Long has disclosed that A. N. Wittmer, of Marion, of Floyd Brown and associates, the sanitary engineers who have been supervising the water treatment operations at the local municipal water plant, will be present for the council meeting Monday evening to answer questions and to explain the treatment of water.

The council passed a resolution July 15, to separate the supervision of the municipal water plant from that of the light plant. The resolution is still with the mayor.

Expressing dissatisfaction with the operation of the water plant, the council asked that the management of the two plants be divided so that the water plant might receive closer supervision.

The councilmen and the mayor made an inspection of the plant last week and Mayor Long says that two avenues of action could be taken on the resolution if it is carried out.

Mayor Long pointed out that since the office of utilities comes under civil service, the only thing he could do would be to charge the official with gross incompetency. The superintendent then could appeal to a court and the charge would have to be proved to the satisfaction of the court in order to relieve the official of his position. Mayor Long did not indicate any intention of trying this method.

The other possibility lies with council abolishing the position and by new ordinance setting up two offices, one over the water plant and the other over the light plant.

No statement has been made by the utilities superintendent, J. P. Adkins, in defense of his supervision of the water plant.

Adkins said that the pipe ordered last March has arrived for the laying of tie-in water mains on Tucker avenue, North Second street, and Morrisfield.

The contractor has been advised that the city is ready to go ahead with the improvement.

Concrete steps have been poured and are ready for placing at the three city water coolers for the accommodation of children, Adkins also said.

PAPERS DELAY OCEAN VOYAGE

New Guinea Missionary Held Up By Passport; Others Sail.

BUCYRUS—Harvey Hildebrand, newly appointed lay missionary to New Guinea, was still awaiting his passport here today, one day past sailing time for the ship that was to have transported him to his new job.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sherer and their two children, of Tiro, and a number of other missionaries were aboard the vessel when it sailed.

Hildebrand learned early this week that he was not alone in waiting for the necessary papers. Others that were to have been in the Sherer party also are being delayed and will have to sail with Hildebrand in a later ship.

AIRPORT STOCK ON SALE TODAY

Launch Drive to Finance Field Midway Between Galion and Crestline.

GALION—Galion-Crestline airport, which was incorporated this week, today launched a campaign to sell $20,000 worth of stock.

Approximately 30 Crestline men joined Galion residents last night in the office of Albert N. Cox to plan for the sale of the stock.

A non-profit corporation, the shares have $100 par value and are being issued to construct the proposed airport at the Fairway club, two and three-quarters miles east of Galion on Route 30-S, about half way between Galion and Crestline.

Arrangements already have been made for the purchase of the 80-acre field. The land is being bought for $10,000, and construction of landing strips is estimated at $8,000.

Paul E. Nollen, Russell Gledhill, and Victor Smith are among the original promoters. The incorporators were Nollen, A. D. Schreck, Gledhill and Cox, all of Galion.

SEES BOLIVIAN REVOLUTION AS BLOW TO NAZIS

Exile Tells of Activities By Fascist Forces During Villarroel Regime.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A Bolivian army colonel of German parentage says that the recent Bolivian revolution has "destroyed the main Nazi focus in Latin America and placed the Bolivian people on the road to democracy."

Colonel Conrad Arnade, former instructor at the Cochabamba (Bolivia) Military school and a firm collaborator of ex-President Enrique Penaranda, told the Associated Press in an interview that the regime of the late President Gualberto Villarroel "was as full of Nazis and Fascist sympathizers as any totalitarian government that has existed."

Arnade is a political exile from Bolivia since January. He now runs a candy store in Long Island City, New York.

"Bolivia, after the downfall of Penaranda, became virtually flooded with Nazi agents," he said. "I smelled them and saw them at work. Together with their Bolivian followers, they were doing exactly the same things Hitler did in Germany and the Japanese tried to do in China."

Arnade said that during the Villarroel regime government-directed assassinations and massacres of oppositionists were the order of the day. He cited one instance:

"Two of Bolivia's most honest citizens, Senators Calvo and Capriles, were taken from their homes in the dead of night by police agents, put on trucks and thrown from a cliff. Their crime was having predicted that Villarroel's program would lead to inflation."

Arnade said young Bolivian army officers had received Fascist training from an Italian military mission which continued operating even after the war. He said they taught "obsolete military theories but very modern political methods," and "laid the basis for the officers lodge which became, as in Argentina, the core of Bolivian Fascism."

Arnade, now a Bolivian citizen, was born in Upper Silesia and fought in the German army in World War I. An anti-Nazi, he left Germany in 1935 with his wife and two children.

He was a technical instructor for Chiang Kai-Shek in the officers school at Nanking, China, in 1937. He left China he said, because of Japanese-inspired German threats against his relatives in Germany. The Japanese, he said, did not want anti-Nazis instructing the Chinese.

Arnade expressed the belief that Nazi sympathizers over the world, particularly in South America, are bound to try to stir up trouble again.

"I wouldn't like to meet any more Nazis," he said, "but I'm afraid I'll have to."

CIRCUS REGROUPS

LONDON —(AP)— The war was no respector of persons—even circus folk. Reorganizing its staff for its first peacetime season, the big Bertram Mills circus announced that many of the performers were in war services or driving trucks. Some were dismissed as unfit and some were drafted from the ranks—crowning irony was that some were conscripted from Italy. The circus was last visited by royalty for an entire week.

Mother In Coma, Baby Lives

An unidentified nurse holds little Karen Beth Wenger at an Allentown, Pa., hospital where the baby's father, Sgt. Leland Wenger, visited her for the first time July 30. The mother, Mrs. Rhoda Wenger, formerly of San Francisco, has been in a coma for eight months, the result of an automobile crash. Karen was born last May 28 while her mother was in the semi-conscious condition.

Tells Vets to Report Wages

Servicemen receiving readjustment allowances under the G. I. Bill of Rights were warned today to report any earnings from either full or part-time jobs to Charles H. Jones, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in Columbus.

Jones said that failure to report any earnings may result in loss of further benefit right and make veterans liable to prosecution under the federal law. Penalty in such instances is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

Jones said that 111 cases of apparently fraudulent claims had come to the bureau's attention in the last three months and are now under investigation. Cities in which these cases occurred are Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Youngstown and Athens. Unemployed veterans draw $20 per week adjustment.

Some of those swings at North Lake park are not intended to be musical—it's merely that they need oiling.

Great Britain complains that the loan is being made in inflated dollars—but they're the best we have at the moment.

One careful reader concludes that everything said in derogation of America by Ilya Ehrenburg, the Russian writer, has been better said by Sinclair Lewis.

Supply Slowly Gaining On Demand

SHORTAGE of competent labor now looms as a deterrent to restoration of what is called "full industrial production," according to Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, in connection with his optimistic prediction that a record volume of goods may flow to consumers within the next six months.

It is Mr. Small's idea that productive enterprises will have to recruit back into the labor force large numbers of those who have left it since V-J day, and also require that "large amounts of overtime be worked if production schedules are to be met."

Recent wage increases, with shortened working week, plus considerably higher pay for overtime, combine to justify price increases for many manufactured articles, and it is this necessary readjustment of prices to production costs that will engage much of the attention of OPA and the new decontrol board from now on.

As Mr. Small points out, "Unless industry and labor learn how to boost productivity without increasing the cost of each item made, prices will rise further"—and that is a matter which the leaders of organized labor are in better position to influence than is industrial management.

Unfortunately, a labor policy has been to retard, rather than augment individual production in giving an appearance of equal ability of workers as well as to "spread employment," which just now does not seem necessary.

Despite increased production, however, there is still a noticeable shortage of many wanted articles, and best procedure is to delay buying scarce merchandise as long as possible—so as to allow supply to catch up with demand—and to refuse to buy anything that is priced too high, because of temporary scarcity.

Orgy of 'Jerry-Building' Deplored

PROBABLY the most discouraging phase of the present acute housing shortage is the incentive it gives to jerry-building of what are called "matchbox-like houses" which at best can serve only temporarily, and not as satisfactory permanent homes.

This subject is touched upon in an illuminating way in an article in the September American magazine by Mrs. Samuel I. Rosenman, chairman of the national committee on housing.

Mrs. Rosenman says that the four and four-and-a-half-room houses, of shoddy construction, springing up throughout the nation are nothing more than "approved birth-control houses" and far from the dream-home servicemen thought about during the war.

"In our haste to get new roofs over the heads of our heroes," she says, "we are indulging in a nationwide orgy of jerry building and poorly planned construction which, if it continues, can end only in social and economic catastrophe. Hundreds of thousands of the men who won the war are being gypped in the purchase of homes and, eventually, not only the veterans but the whole American public will have to pay the bill."

More rental housing, with stricter regulations and higher standards of construction, is advised by Mrs. Rosenman, who also suggests that, as a temporary measure, rental housing might be given the same kind of tax-free, fast-amortization break that was given industrial plants during the war and that is now granted to new construction materials plants.

When it is taken into account that some of those new "matchbox-like" houses are ridiculously priced as high as $9,000, when they are reasonably worth no more than around $3,500, the need for some better way to relieve the housing shortage is apparent.

Trespassing On Farm Property

SUCH a tragedy as that which was enacted in Ashland county Wednesday evening, resulting in the death of the young mother of three children, may well serve as an illustration of two rather common faults.

One, as seen in the action of the ill-tempered farmer who fired the fatal shot but who disclaims intent to kill, is the inclination of some people to resort to the use of a firearm without exercising the judgment needed when handling a dangerous weapon.

The other is the freedom that many people feel in trespassing upon farm property and appropriating farm products without consent of the owner.

In this instance it was the apparently innocent pastime of picking blackberries from a patch on a vicinity farm that led to the tragedy—but it should be more generally recognized that property rights extend to rural as well as urban dwellers, and that farmers are frequently annoyed by hunters and other trespassers who show scant regard for such rights.

It appears that in this case the man who did the shooting complains of having been "bothered" by chicken and hog thieves, and while this falls far short of justifying or excusing his decision to take the law into his own hands—with such tragic results—it does indicate the state of desperation to which farmers are sometimes driven in an effort to protect their own property.

Reporting the one hundredth birthday anniversary of a Missouri clothing merchant, it is explained that he retired before OPA regulations were started.

A postcard mailed in Colorado in 1909 is reported to have just reached Indianapolis—laid aside to be read, perhaps.

BLACK SPOT ON THE MAP

Losing Sight of Real Objectives

By DREW PEARSON

PARIS—It is always easy to give advice from the sidelines and if the newsmen now coaching the American secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, were really running the conference of Paris, it would probably accomplish even less. However, this observer—having attended many international parleys from the Washington Arms Conference of 1921 to the present—humbly offers two suggestions:

1. The United States has become so confused trying to straighten out the back alleys of Trieste that we have lost sight of the guiding stars for which we fought — the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter.

2. Any treaty signed at Paris will be a mere scrap of paper unless there is good will between peoples to guarantee that its terms are carried out.

No Hodgepodge Treaty Wanted.

Some old-school diplomats have the idea that if Secretary Byrnes should return from Paris without a treaty, it would be a defeat for American diplomacy and a setback to world peace. On the contrary, it might be extremely healthy to end this conference without a treaty, especially if that treaty is a hodgepodge which adds to the unrest of the world while simultaneously lulling the American people to sleep.

If Secretary Byrnes should demand here that Russia sign a treaty giving American, British and other members of the United Nations free access to the Russian people, it would be worth all the agreements on Trieste, Italian reparations and the Balkans which he could negotiate in a year.

If he should demand that American students and professors have the same right to visit Russia that Russians are granted by the U. S., that American movies, books and magazines be admitted to Russia, that American newspapermen and the ordinary John Q. Citizen have a right to travel in Russia, it would do more to stabilize world peace than all the other treaties imaginable.

It is quite true, of course, that Byrnes would not get a "free access to Russia" treaty. Russia's M. Molotoff would scream to high heaven, tear his hair and claim this was not on the agenda. He would even accuse Byrnes of sabotaging the peace.

However, that is no reason for not putting M. Molotoff on the spot. He has put plenty of others on the spot. He has taken great pleasure in hearing them scream and it might be interesting to hear him scream for a change.

Kremlin Fosters Distrust.

Furthermore, the world at large—including a small but vocal pro-Communist segment of the American people—needs to be educated to the fact that the Russians simply do not want friendship with the outside world. They thrive on distrust and suspicion. In fact, the Kremlin has a better hold on the Russian people when they are suspicious of outsiders.

That is why all Moscow radio broadcasts, why all the Russian newspapers, constantly warn of the capitalist menace and claim the United States bristles with people eager to massacre innocent Russian peasants.

For some strange reason no one in the United States has ever called the Russian bluff. The state department has made polite overtures, it is true, but no high official has ever stood up publicly and told the Kremlin that it is time for a showdown as to whether Russia wants peace and understanding between the Russian and American people.

I can think of no better place to call for such a showdown than at a conference convened for the purpose of establishing peace.

Furthermore I am certain that nine-tenths of the delegates present, plus most of the people of the world, would applaud so vigorously such a stand on our part that even the hard-boiled, thick-skinned Molotoff would be impressed.

U. S. Has Lost Leadership.

However, the unfortunate but inescapable fact is that the United States has lost its world leadership. Our diplomats have been led through so many Venezia Giulia labyrinths and up so many Trieste blind alleys with Slav diplomats yapping at their heels that they are weary and confused. They have partly lost their bearing. The great goal of a peace based on the Four Freedoms seems very dim, very blurred, and very far away.

The United States also has lost much of the respect and admiration of the smaller powers. The nations which have nothing to gain from war except seeing their fields laid waste and their cities bombed once looked to us as their great champion.

The small nations knew we had no ulterior motives. They knew we had only one great objective, permanent peace, but they have seen us get bogged down, outwitted and sidetracked time after time. The fox Molotoff, whom they know has only his own ax to grind, has taken us off the trail, confused us, and led us around in circles.

Good Will Is Needed.

The small remnant of a treaty we are now called upon to sign means almost nothing. Molotoff has whittled it down until it chiefly settles a few points he wants settled and almost none of the problems we want settled. Austria can't be discussed. Therefore, Russian troops can still remain in Austria, can still send reinforcements to Jugoslavia, and Jugoslavia, backed by the Red army, can find an excuse to move into Trieste the day after U. S.-British troops move out.

In other words, whatever treaty is signed here means nothing unless it is based on the firm foundation of good will between peoples.

The United States and Great Britain will never fight each other because the bond between their peoples is too strong. They understand each other and they would impeach overnight any president or prime minister who proposed war between them.

Byrnes' Big Obstacle.

But friendship between the Russian and American people, while anxious to sprout, has no soil in which to grow. The leaders in Moscow will not permit it. Briefly, that is the big obstacle Secretary Byrnes must overcome before he can bring home anything which even remotely bears resemblance to a treaty of peace.

Until we re-emphasize the lofty goals for which we fought this war, any peace treaty signed at Paris will be a mere mockery. It would be far better to sign nothing than to come away from the conference with a piece of paper supposed to fulfill the great hopes for which men fought but which actually means so little.

THOSE proposed peace treaties for all the enemy nations except the big ones have been made public and should result in a bumper crop of new fights. All I hope is that no new war breaks out while the peace delegates are still talking.

Daily Bible Thought

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled.—Matt 5:6.

Timely Editorial

Farm Land Values.

The Federal Farm Land bank system has warned, not for the first time, of a budding inflation in farm land values, which in some regions already is "getting out of hand."

The like spiraling of land prices after the first World War was recalled. So was the bust, which followed that boom, when food prices at length collapsed. There began then the agricultural depression that preceded and presaged by eight years the general collapse of 1929.

We doubt very much that the officials and congressmen in Washington who have fought for higher ceiling prices on farm produce have been serving the farmers' long-term interest very well. —Detroit News.

Pro and Con of OPA Argued By Everybody.

DENVER, Colo.—Now the play period is over and we're all back in price ceiling school again, and nobody seems to realize what the recess accomplished. Everybody's too busy arguing the pro's and con's of OPA. I feel into the same trap—I went around asking scores of people what they thought we were better off with.

Everyone, or almost everyone, seemed to think that rent ceilings should be retained for a while. Their answer only led to more confusion.

No two people completely agreed but suddenly there seemed to be a trend in their talk—a trend scarcely seen in this country since pre-depression days—and it was neither an endorsement nor an indictment of OPA.

Malcolm Peters is a pharmacist here. He was a chief pharmacist's mate in the navy during the war, outranking his wife who was a pharmacist's mate second class in the WAVES. They were pretty sore when they first came home and settled down—had to pay $200 before they could even walk into the door of an apartment and then paid about $86 a month for a place that was legally limited to $60 by OPA.

"But now we're renting from the barber next door and he's really treating us right," the young white-coated druggist said. "He doesn't charge any more than he did even before OPA came into being. He's got the right idea about keeping prices down and we don't charge any more for items here in the store, either—for that matter we found that the Colorado fair trades law covered about 90 per cent of our prices anyway."

Oh, "Pete" thinks the OPA should keep ceilings on rents until more people start looking at it like the barber next door does, but as to the other things well—

"We found out about groceries that if things got too high, we just didn't have to buy them and unless it was some item that was essential and a real shortage other people did the same thing. And pretty soon the price had to come down," Pete said.

Across the street in Edwin G. (Andy) Anderson's filling station they were getting a big laugh on the same subject. Andy thinks they ought to kick all price ceilings out the window, but James A. (Buzz) Coffman and Kenneth I. Justice, a couple of guys who work for him, think maybe some essentials should still be regulated.

But they all agreed on one thing: "Look at those two grocery stores," Justice pointed across the intersection—"at first when OPA went out meat went sky-high but first thing we knew one guy was posting his prices in the window—trying to cut under the other guy."

"Yeah," grinned Buzz, "people just weren't buying meat and they were getting loaded with it pretty soon."

Buzz, a former army liaison pilot, thought we'd learned something else: "We found out that we had to needle congressmen about what we wanted. We had to get interested in things and then let them know."

Justice said he wrote Colorado Senator Ed Johnson that rent ceilings should be kept, but that most other things would take care of themselves—" except for the absolute essentials, where there are shortages." He hasn't had an answer but he's pretty sure that letters such as his got some results.

That's what I found everywhere—not just on the one Denver intersection. The price ceiling recess brought plenty of arguments over what was right and wrong but more important, it brought a rebirth of self-confidence—a renewed belief in our ability to help control our cost of living by simply not buying unessential things when he can't afford them and a revival of faith in our potential influence over our own government simply by letting the lawmakers know in no uncertain terms what we want.

And I think that renaissance of American self-confidence—missing since the early thirties—is more important even than the eventual fate of the Office of Price Administration.

ACCORDING to Rep. Coffee, campaign contributions come in even between elections . . . Our previous impression was that congressmen received nothing between elections except abuse.

But no action will be taken in the Coffee case . . . it appears to be too late to act, too early to forget but just right to talk about.

Many Errors In Congressional "Box Score."

WASHINGTON—When you add up the congressional box score, the errors are conspicuous, and the runs are few and far between. Herewith is an effort to summarize what congress has done during the past seven months.

Atomic Energy—A workable bill for civilian control achieved after painful pulling and hauling and much nationalistic talk about "keeping the secret."

Labor Legislation—A cihper in this department. Congress and the president will dispute the blame. The president vetoed the Case bill, which contained a 60-day cooling-off clause. Congress ignored the president's recommendation for fact-finding boards and a 30-day cooling-off period. The president's labor-draft proposal was given a merciful political anaesthetic.

Full Employment — The senate passed a measure fairly close to the administration objective. The house bill was "not at all acceptable" to Truman. What came out of conference was a mild version that can, however, be useful in checking the upswings and downswings of the economic cycle.

Upping the Federal Minimum Wage Requirements — This was sabotaged by the farm bloc, with special emphasis from the South. The administration had recommended a minimum of 65 cents an hour.

Price Control—In a radio address on January 3, the president urged congress to act as quickly as possible after returning to Washington. Delaying tactics postponed final action until the eve of expiration of the OPA act. Complicated amendments, particularly that of Sen. Taft, would make prices rise, Truman charged. Here again, there will be a political split over responsibility for price rises that are a painful reality. The measure finally passed and signed is a slight improvement over the one that was vetoed. The net on this, in the face of an unmistakable popular demand for continuation of price control, must be failure.

Housing—A system of subsidiaries for expediting veterans' housing was adopted. But on the zero side must go the failure of the house, thanks to three or four Republican committee members, to adopt the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill. Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt called this an "inseparably necessary" part of the veterans' housing program. Congress also denied the president permission to consolidate housing agencies in a single bureau.

Scientific Research—The senate passed a bill putting the federal government behind a vastly expanded program of research considered essential to make up for wartime losses in scientific training. Sent to the house, the bill died in the interstate and foreign commerce committee. The reason, according to Sen. Kilgore, sponsor of the measure, was the efforts of a powerful business lobby distrustful of where control of research would lie under the bill.

Military — In this department, the Truman administration suffered one defeat after another. Navy-minded committee chairmen, with the admirals just behind them, scuttled unification of the armed forces which the president argued was essential for reasons of efficiency and economy. Congress declined to vote on a universal military training program. With great reluctance, an extension of the draft for nine months, with the inclusion of 19-year-olds, was finally adopted.

Health and Medical Care Program—This, along with most of the reform measures recommended by Truman after V-J day, never came up for a vote. It was fiercely opposed by organized doctors and their spokesmen in house and senate.

British Loan—Senate and house approved the loan of $3,750,000,000 declared essential by the administration to cement world trade relationships. Delay of six months took away some of the value of this act of cooperation.

Congressional Reorganization—One of the few positive gains. But the authors of the measure, Sen. LaFollette and Rep. Monroney, are fearful that the hosannas of praise will give an entirely false impression of the extent of the reform. It is limited, a beginning.

Racial Discrimination — Fair employment practices bill and anti-poll tax bill were, as usual, pinned down by threat of filibuster.

This is not a complete list. But it is complete enough to show that inaction was the rule rather than the exception. The most damning fact is that a technique of stalemate was used to keep congress from voting on the most controversial measures. That is the truly ominous zero in the congressional box score.

Memphis Under Crump Dictatorship.

MEMPHIS—You have to see and feel it to believe how the ordinarily accepted liberties of American citizens are violated here by the political dictatorship of Boss Ed H. Crump.

It is amazing and terrifying, and so is the docile way the majority of the people take it, no longer able or willing to resist.

Nothing comparable to it has been experienced by this writer—with one exception. That was in Louisiana a dozen years ago when the state was under the heel of Huey Long. Fear gripped the people there until you could feel it as you went among them.

On the surface, life moves smoothly here as in any other American city. But when you pry below the surface, you find the under-current of fear and subservience, and in so many different ways. When an election comes along, such as that here yesterday, the lid is lifted and the mechanism of the odious Crump machine is laid bare.

All year long Boss Crump exerts his pressures, but when his rule is challenged in an election then he really shows his teeth.

In any other American city in a political campaign such as has gone on here, candidates of both sides can speak when and where they please. They can put up campaign posters, they can hire sound trucks. That is accepted in our democracy and guaranteed by our constitution. But not in Memphis.

That was discovered quickly by campaign managers of Ned Carmack and Gordon Browning, anti-Crump candidates for U. S. senator and governor, respectively, against the Crump-backed candidates—Senator Kenneth D. McKellar and Gov. Jim McCord.

Mr. Carmack wanted to speak in this city. His representatives sought a place for the meeting. They were turned down on one pretext or another on various down-town locations. Courthouse Square? No, the audience might trample the grass. There is not much grass and the Crump people have held meetings there.

E. H. Crump stadium, which belongs to the city and ostensibly to the people? No, they might trample the playing field. Bob Hope put on a show there and no one seemed bothered then about the playing field.

The fair ground? No, that could be used only on Thursday nights and, too bad, it happened that on the only Thursday night before election it was reserved for Boss Crump and his big free picnic.

On that festive occasion 15,000 hot dogs and enough lemonade for 25,000 people had been consumed an hour after the jamboree started at 4 p. m.

More had to be sent to supply the crowd of 50,000, which had come out to pay obeisance—it's all free, boys and girls—to the boss. Some wondered who paid for all that.

The city officials finally offered any one of nine parks away from the center of town for Mr. Carmack's speech.

He spoke at Peabody park to a crowd of 500. Brave souls. For so many people are afraid to be seen even at a meeting for a Crump opponent. The boss, too, had his lookouts there.

Yet Memphis likes to think of itself as proud and free American city.

Farmer's Diary: "Plenty of Pheasants."

EVERY morning just at daylight I hear the challenging crow of a male pheasant, beyond the border of the wheat field. Then, from the eastern end of the corn comes an answer. Sometimes I have heard it echo ten yards from the kitchen door. A wild duck resting on the surface of our little pond was not disturbed by the call.

These male birds, in their finest plumage, often ran in the furrow ahead of the tractor, when we plowed in the spring. In plain sight, they picked off grain or young grasshoppers—but regardless of their gay colorings, they can hide from view even in short green clumps of grass.

The hedge south of our gravel road affords them ample cover. Often, beneath this shade, I see one scratch the grass and leaves until a rooty bare spot is formed. Here, close to the sound of noisy cars and trucks, he leisurely sands his broad wings and lovely feathers. Each bird makes his own wallow, rather than take another bird's readymade place.

I wondered if perhaps the pheasant pride forbids consorting with possibly lousy neighbors, or if it was only a matter of keeping the peace.

These pheasants add color and joy of wild cunning to our bottom fields. Last year the race seemed to vanish during early spring and summer. This year, our valley is richer for their bold vibrant call ringing on the morning air.

The modest, drab mottled mothers are more in evidence too. They browse widely over the upland clover or wherever grasshoppers and crickets are alive in the grass.

One morning, when dew was heavy, I heard the tender voices of a dozen young pheasants on the high bank above the road. The cows had made a beaten bare path and there I saw these young ones stand with open wings, facing toward the sun their wet fronts. Strange contentment seemed to be in that soothing warmth, for they stood there fearlessly, motionless, while their pretty mother kept watch from the rear.

After they had warmed and rested, half asleep, for a time, one began to primp and preen his feathers. Soon all were doing it. Just why a pheasant mother will lead a brood through the wet of the cool morning, I never knew. Perhaps more nourishing and appetizing insects are abroad at that time of day.

HINT TRUMAN MIGHT ENTER OHIO BATTLE

With 23 House, 1 Senatorial Seats at Stake, Campaign's Vital to Both Parties.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Democratic high command is considering the possibility that President Truman may enter the Ohio election campaign.

It's one of the most important campaigns in the country—to both major parties. Twenty-three house seats and one senatorial seat are at stake, not to mention statehouse control.

Senator James W. Huffman (D) is opposing former Governor John W. Bricker (R) for the senate seat formerly held by Harold H. Burton (R). Governor Frank Lausche (D) appointed Huffman to finish Burton's term when the latter was named to the Supreme Court by President Truman.

Informed but unquotable Democrats disclosed that an Ohio visit —maybe a speech—by the president definitely is under consideration the discussion has reached all the way to the White House. Nothing has been decided.

Preparations by Senator Robert A. Taft (R) to back Bricker actively caused some Democrats to suggest that the president might well step openly into the campaign for Huffman.

President Truman and Senator Huffman have become good friends since the latter came to Washington. The senator finds the White House welcome mat out whenever he wants to see the chief executive. They have had many chats.

Huffman recently invited the president to attend the state American Legion convention at Cleveland this month. This isn't likely to materialize. The president is understood to be contemplating relaxation during August, perhaps preparatory to some active political events before November.

Instead of a Cleveland visit, one Democrat said privately that the president, if he made a trip at all, would prefer one obviously political rather than an appearance at a nonpartisan Legion meeting.

A decision might be influenced by what the Democrats feel they would achieve by a presidential trip.

New OPA Decontrol Board Takes Office

Says Czechoslovakia Stands On Own Feet at Conference

(Czechoslovakia often has been described as one of the many satellites in the Soviet orbit, whose domestic and international activities have been dictated by Moscow. In the following exclusive article, the Czech delegate to the Paris peace conference denies this flatly, and suggests that the world adopt a "watch and see" attitude to confirm his claims of independence.)

By VLADIMIR CLEMENTIS
(Czechoslovakian Delegate to the Paris Peace Conference)

PARIS — (INS) — I thought all doubts had long since been dispelled about the independence of the political and diplomatic actions of my country.

But since it has been said that some people still think Czechoslovakia is a pawn on the Soviet chessboard, I can only invite the world to watch our actions at Luxembourg palace.

There from day to day it will be apparent we are deciding each issue on its merits.

Favors Two-Thirds Rule.

To be sure, we intend to vote like Russia to maintain the two-thirds rule on substantive questions—but that's because we are convinced it is the only means whereby countries directly concerned can make their views prevail.

Why should a group of countries such as Canada, China, Brazil and New Zealand be able to control voting on a question between Greece and Bulgaria or between Czechoslovakia and Hungary?

I could name 11 countries of the 21 which are not European and are too far removed to understand European problems, yet they constitute a simple majority and could dominate all decisions.

For this reason—and not because the Soviet controls our vote—we intend to support the two-thirds rule.

In some other respects we may be found voting against Russia. For example if the Soviet opposes changes in the Hungarian treaty, we'll certainly oppose them.

That treaty fails to give Czechoslovakia the proper indemnity of reparations from Hungary. The treaty covers Hungary's action only during the period of the war and fails completely to take into consideration Hungary's aggression between Munich and the beginning of the war.

It was then that Hungarians swarmed across our southern border and committed atrocities against 10,000 Slovaks, seized their stock and generally behaved like a warring nation.

The bill for this has not been presented.

We intend to present it here at Paris.

My country was born an independent after the last war and we maintained that independence at a great sacrifice during this war. We do not intend to lose that independence now.

Goura Plumes Top $1,000 Fall Hats

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—If you'd like a collector's item to wear on your head, there'll be two on sale this month—one in Chicago, the other in Beverly Hills, Calif.—at $1,000 a throw.

They're Laddie Northridge's gray fell and goura feather hats, and there won't be any more like 'em because the feathers are all but extinct as a millinery material.

The goura is a New Guinea pigeon—larger than a rooster—with what the dictionary calls a "remarkable erect crest of decomposed feathers."

The "decomposed" doesn't mean they're really moulding away, ornithologists point out. It merely describes the construction — the feather barbs are loosely held together to give the look of a lacy crown.

The male crest is tipped with white. The female is all gray. (Our bird informant says some males are all gray, too, but the millinery trade doesn't bother with that nicety.)

There'll be goura crests on other hats this season—some of them Northridge's some made by other high price milliners—but none have the profuse display of male beauty of the two Northridge exclusives, and he says he hasn't enough to make another one.

The importation of the feathers was banned by a 1913 federal law—as was importation of paradise, aigrette and other rare wild bird plumage—and the birds are now protected in their tropical forest home.

Some years a go a New York state law prohibited use of paradise and aigrette for millinery even if it had been imported before the ban. That restriction will be effective for goura in 1949. Until this season, stocks of them have remained in camphor balls for years waiting for a market.

They were highly prized luxury plumes in grandmother's day, but lately:

"They just haven't been fashionable," one feather merchant explained. "Hardly any have been used in the last 15 or 20 years."

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Jottings in Pencil.

Friends hear that Mary Kirk Brown's most unlosable and most famous admirer phoned her frantically from Chicago when he heard of her "engagement" to Dick Stabile, and begged her to call it off. They say he promised to get a divorce and marry her if she'd join him immediately—and intimates wouldn't be surprised if she does just that. No one is taking her betrothal to the bandleader very seriously. . . . Comedian Dick Wesson and his bride, Wini Walsh (the former Latin Quarter singer) are knitting tiny garments. . . . Elaine Barrie, John Barrymore's widow, is making the rounds of the radio producers' offices looking for mike jobs. . . . Big spenders with small income tax returns are making the side-street restaurants rich. They're afraid to run up large checks in the major night spots, so they patronize cafes and bars in the 40s and 50s. . . . Friends of Humphrey Bogart and Baby Bacall have word that the cinema pair will be on the east coast soon for their summer stock stint.

The big food rage in Hollywood—the Caesar salad—will be introduced to New Yorkers by Gilmore's Steak House. It's an intricate concoction that takes ages to prepare and contains (zowie!) lots of garlic, raw or slightly coddled eggs, croutons, romaine, anchovies, parmesan cheese, olive oil, vinegar and plenty of black pepper. . . . The funniest sight in town takes place every Wednesday afternoon at Roseland. Before the doors open for the "matinee," the ballroom's 16 husky bouncers take their dancing lesson! . . . Huntington Hartford is considering opening a chic private membership club in Hollywood.

* * *

A big broadshouldered business man almost fainted dead away the other afternoon. His assistant, an attractive and very well groomed brunette, was out to lunch, so he went to the files to find some papers himself. To his considerable consternation, he came across two envelopes filed under "Hands." One of the large envelopes was marked "Right Hand," the other "Left Hand." Shuddering, he shut the file drawer without further investigation. The mystery was unraveled when the girl returned and confessed she kept her false fingernails neatly filed away with the firm's letters so she wouldn't paste them on the wrong mitts when she's hurrying from office to date.

* * *

Jan Kiepura and Marta Eggerth are now in the real estate business on the side. . . . Jack Williams, the ex-GI who completed his first post-army dancing engagement at the Paramount last week, lost his wallet containing $400 and $750 in checks on the closing night. . . . Bob Olin's restaurant, a newcomer, now grosses $20,000 a week, most of it in roast beef. . . . Guess an "old timer" is a girl who can remember way back when you could identify a certain shade of brown by saying it was "mink colored." Now there are more shades of mink than there are colors in the rainbow. . . . Devastating name department: Twin brothers who help out in the kitchen at Ruby Foo's Den call themselves Chen and Double Chen!

A noted authority on jazz is so broke he's handed his prize collection of thousands of "hot" records to a local shop for public sale. . . . Ginger Rogers and her husband are expected in Gotham soon for a second honeymoon. . . . The top backer of a giant night club is ready to toss in the sponge. . . . Newest diversion of the stay-up-lates is playing "ghost"—and Rags Ragland, the professional illiterate, is the champ of 'em all! . . . Leonard Sillman is planning a fall musical based on the story of Cinderella, not to be confused with Georgie Hale's scheduled "Mr. Cinderella."

In the early days of the Roman Republic gold rings were worn only by senators entrusted with a special mission for the state. Still later the jewelry caste system was: gold rings for freeborn men, silver rings for freedmen and iron rings for slaves.

June became popular as a wedding month because June gets its name from Juno, the faithful wife of Jupiter and the goddess of marriage.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, August 3.

A sudden and possibly sensational and unpredictable course of events or situations is promised by reigning planetary influences, in which major forces are involved. There is encouragement for bold and audacious moves, adventures and programs, in which originality, ingenuity, fresh ideas or new techniques are likely to be of radical or outstanding importance to self and the public.

It might be wise to curb all inflationary, extravagant or hazardous tendencies and to refrain from setting too much value upon nonessentials even in personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of exceptional promise for putting over certain cherished extreme, strange, revolutionary or spectacular projects or ideas, in which originality, courage, bold and audacious schemes or programs, may attract not only the limelight but the ways and means of achieving such dramatic proposition.

Romance, drama, sensational adventures are in sight, but subdue inflationary, quixotic or overprodigal impulses, using calm discretion in selecting associates. Advance on sound basis.

A child born on this day will possess many unique and original talents, with ingenuity and skill, attracting rare attention and possibly spectacular romance and adventure, private and public.

If you want your casserole dish to be a real success, choose foods that go well together, be sure the sauce is smooth and creamy, not too thick and not too thin. Always season the mixture well, varying the seasoning from one time to the next.

Although fans have been used in China since about 3,000 B. C., the folding fan was not known until the seventh century, when it was invented by the Japanese. In Europe, the gestures of ladies used in handling their fans developed into code signals for flirtation purposes.

Ohioan Pilots B-29 to New Speed Record

An army B-29 Superfortress roared across the continent in 7 hours and 28 minutes yesterday, setting a new east to west speed record between New York and Burbank for conventional type planes. Piloted by Capt. Boyd L. Grubaugh of Van Wert, Ohio, veteran of the first Superfort bombing of Japan, the plane broke the previous record of 9 hours and 23 minutes, established last May 28 by a Lockheed navy Neptune. The B-29, carrying a crew of six and 8,705 gallons of gasoline, flew at about 30,000 feet over the 2,460-mile route. Pictured above are the plane and members of the crew. Left to right: Capt. Grubaugh, Van Wert, O.; Co-Pilot Capt. John L. England, Boston; 1st Flight Eng. Lt. Elbert Shearer, Zillah, Wash.; M/Sgt. Dock Atkins, Mt. Airy, N. C.; M/Sgt. Therman Wolfe, Walton, Ky.; M/Sgt. Ralph Pierron, Dayton, O.; T/Sgt. Donald B. Smith, Bloomington, Ind.

CUT WEEDS

Shiloh Council Issues Order to Property Owners.

SHILOH — Village council this week passed an ordinance making the cutting of obnoxious weeds compulsory by property owners.

A five-day notice will be given where the work is not done voluntarily after which weeds will be cut by corporation labor, the cost to be assessed as a fee for certification.

An additional water supply for the village was deemed necessary by E. C. Geisinger for the drilling and equipment of an additional well within the corporation.

The resolution was passed by unanimous vote and arrangements made for publication of bids on the project. The well will be approximately 100 feet deep cased with 10 inch steel pipe and screened by 10 feet of wire.

Hemlock trees more than 600 years old have been found.

CITES NEED FOR MORE HAY SEED

AAA Chairman Says Farmers Will Get More For Clover, Alfalfa Harvest.

Richland county farmers were urged today to harvest more acres of clover and alfalfa seed this year.

The appeal came from Guy L. Taylor, county Triple-A chairman, who pointed out that the seed will bring good prices and the government is also offering a special payment of nine cents per pound for all red clover and seven cents per pound for all alfalfa and alsike clover seed harvested during the current year and moved into commercial channels by Jan. 1, 1947.

These payments, which will be made to any farmer who harvests red clover, alsike or alfalfa seed, and sells it before Jan. 1, should make it financially worthwhile to harvest even some of the low-yielding fields, Taylor said.

Grass and legume seeds are more vitally needed now than ever before to provide future food supplies and to maintain soil fertility, the chairman pointed out. Not only have the soils of this nation suffered from the heavy production of crops during the war years, but these same soils must continue to carry the extra burden of production while war-torn countries are restoring their agriculture. Heavy seedings of legumes in the future will be required to repair this damage.

Cambria is the ancient name of Wales.

JOBS BOOMING
